This is possible since.Carbon zero Carbon zero is a term in the field of sustainability describing a state, an economy, or a political entity with negative CO2 emissions through effective decarbonisation. The term was coined in 2009 by economist Hugh MacMillan and is a derivative of the term zero-carbon. Carbon zero politics is a form of political engagement that seeks to remove the pressure for rapid decarbonisation from economic growth and focus on rationalizing and integrating the policy tools and capabilities within the current economic structure to effectively achieve carbon zero. There is a trend within political science for increasing the time horizon for this type of behaviour. Choriocarcinoma and congenital defects are the two most common complications following maternal cytomegalovirus (CMV) infection. In this study we aimed to investigate the relationship between the first trimester level of alcohol, cannabis and the CMV IgG seroprevalence with the occurrence of CMV infection in pregnant women, and with the occurrence of congenital defects in their offspring. This was a case-control, cross-sectional study in which 166 pregnant women with a previous history of neonatal defects were compared with 166 controls, matched by age, gestational age and smoking status. The diagnosis of CMV infection in the mothers was based on maternal IgG and IgM levels, and the presence of the CMV glycoprotein B antigen in amniotic fluid. ba244e880a
